Austin is the fourth of six regional QER public input meetings, all of which are based on wholesale market footprints as a convenient approach to capturing and assisting the Interagency QER Task Force in understanding the nation's regional electricity diversity, which is also characterized by differing resource mixes, state policies, and a host of other factors. The Austin meeting covers the footprint of the state of Texas, the grid operations and flow of energy for most of which is managed by the Electric Reliability Council of Texas (ERCOT).
